Terms and Conditions of Use of Electronic Books

The following Terms and Conditions of Use of Electronic Books (“Terms and Conditions”) apply to the use of electronic editions (“e-Books”) of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific Monograph Publications (“ASPMP”) published by the Astronomical Society of the Pacific (“ASP”), available online at www.aspmonographs.org. Refusal or failure to abide by these Terms and Conditions may result in suspension or termination of access. The ASP may amend or supplement these Terms and Conditions from time to time and will post changes online 30 days before such changes.

Definitions

“Authorized User”: Any user granted access to the e-Books by the ASP, including but not limited to (i) an individual member purchasing electronic access for one or more e-Books or articles, with or without purchase of the printed volume, or (ii) a member of an Institution purchasing one or more printed volumes. Members of Institutions are limited to current research and teaching staff (whether on a permanent, temporary, contract or visiting basis); students currently studying at the institution; employees, both full-time and part-time; on-site users of the institution or Licensee’s library(s), and individuals using secure campus computer network(s) available from where Authorized Users work or study with access through strict authentication; and any other users agreed to in writing by the ASP and the institution or Licensee.

“e-Books”: The electronic edition of ASPMP volumes, including individual articles and all associated electronic materials. The e-Books may be hosted by the ASP on the ASPMP web site or on the web site of an agent authorized by the ASP to host the electronic edition.

“Institution”: A single-site institution, enterprise, consortium, or other organization which has purchased and fully paid all costs and fees for one or more printed volumes, including access to the corresponding e-Books available at the ASPMP web site.

Permitted Use of e-Books

1. Individual Use.

- 1.1. Any Authorized User may search, download, and save material included in the e-Books for his or her own use. Single printed copies of individual papers may be made for private use or research.
- 1.2. An Authorized User may transmit a hard copy or electronic copy of any paper to any individual who is not an Authorized User provided such transmission is (i) not for compensation, (ii) for purposes of scholarly exchange of ideas, and (iii) not part of any systematic provision of e-Book content to such user or any third party. All copyright notices and acknowledgements of the authorship and source as shown at the top of the paper must be maintained.
- 1.3. Materials from the e-Books may not be recompiled, manipulated, used to prepare derivative works, republished, or published in another format, including mounting or distributing e-Books on the Internet, without prior written permission from the ASP.
- 1.4. Authorized Users may not authorize use of the e-Books by anyone who is not an Authorized User. Usernames and passwords for access to the e-Books are for the personal use of the individual purchaser and may not be shared.
- 1.5. The ASP reserves the right to immediately deny access to a username or password if unauthorized use is detected or suspected, and to use its best efforts to notify the individual of any denial of access. The ASP agrees to restore access to the username and password within one business day of successful resolution of the situation.

2. Institutional Use.

- 2.1. Allowed uses described in paragraphs 1.1 through 1.3 above apply to all Authorized Users, including Institutions and their Authorized Users.
- 2.2. Classroom and educational use: Institutions with access to the e-Books may make multiple copies of limited materials from the e-Books for the purpose of classroom use or place limited materials from the e-Books on electronic reserve. Complete volumes may not be stored on electronic reserve. Each item shall carry appropriate acknowledgement of the source, listing title, author, editor, volume number, volume title and publisher, as shown on the first page of the paper. Copies of such items shall be deleted by the Institution when they are no longer used for such purpose. All other copying for classroom and education use beyond the fair use provisions of Section 107 of the Copyright Act of the U.S. requires written permission from the ASP.
- 2.3. Interlibrary loan: Institutions may provide through interlibrary loan either hard or electronic copies derived from the electronic edition of the e-Books for the purpose of research or private study and not for commercial use. The same limitations that apply to paper copies made from the printed volumes of the ASPMP also apply to copies derived from e-Books. Specifically, copies must be made in compliance with Section 108 of the Copyright Act of the U.S. and with guidelines developed by the National Commission on New Technological Uses of Copyrighted Works (CONTU Guidelines), the text of which is available as part of U.S. Copyright Office Circular 21.
- 2.4. Institutions may provide print or electronic copies of articles from the e-Books to national or international regulatory authorities for the purposes of, or in anticipation of, regulatory approval or patent and/or trademark applications or other legal or regulatory purposes in respect of the Institution's products or services, provided that such regulatory purposes do not amount to commercial redistribution. Distribution of print or electronic copies for advertising or other marketing purposes is not permitted.

- 2.5. Materials from the e-Books may not be modified, redistributed, licensed, sold, used to make multiple copies, or otherwise exploited in any way for commercial purposes unless such use is expressly permitted by the ASP.
- 2.6. E-Book content may not be mirrored or stored without prior written permission from the ASP.
- 2.7. Institutions must make reasonable endeavors to ensure that all Authorized Users are notified of these Terms and Conditions as well as the importance of respecting the intellectual property rights of the ASP and its e-Books.
- 2.8. Institutions are responsible for undertaking reasonable measures to prevent access by unauthorized persons to authorized IP addresses, and are responsible for terminating any unauthorized access of which the Institution has actual notice or knowledge. Institutions will not be held responsible for unauthorized use of the e-Book provided (i) such use is without the express or implied consent of the Institution; (ii) the Institution notifies the ASP of any such use of which it becomes aware; and (iii) the Institution takes all reasonable steps to terminate such activity promptly. The ASP reserves the right to deny access immediately if unauthorized use is detected or suspected; however, denial of access will be limited, to the extent practicable, to the IP address(es) from which the activity originated. The ASP agrees to notify promptly the Institution of any denial of access; to cooperate with the Institution in terminating such activity; and to restore access to the affected IP address(es) within one business day of successful resolution of the situation. Failure to take reasonable steps to terminate unauthorized activity within thirty (30) days of notice from the ASP of such activity or repeated usage violation from the authorized IP addresses of the Institution may result in suspension or termination of access.
- 2.9. Access to the the full text of individual e-Books is limited to Authorized Users who have purchased electronic access, with or without printed volumes. Access will be limited to the table of contents and abstracts for all e-Books not purchased.

Warranty, Indemnification and Disclaimers

The ASP warrants that it has the right to license the rights granted under these Terms and Conditions to use ASPMP e-Books, that it has obtained any and all necessary permissions from third parties to license the e-Books, and that use of the e-Books by Authorized Users in accordance with these Terms and Conditions shall not infringe the copyright of any third party.

The ASP shall indemnify and hold Institutions and Authorized Users harmless for any losses, claims, damages, awards, penalties, or injuries incurred, including reasonable attorney's fees, which arise from any claim by any third party of an alleged infringement of copyright or any other property right arising out of the use of the e-Books by the Institution or any Authorized User. NO LIMITATION OF LIABILITY SET FORTH ELSEWHERE IN THESE TERMS AND CONDITIONS IS APPLICABLE TO THIS INDEMNIFICATION.

The ASP does not warrant that the e-Books will be accessible in any particular hardware/software environment. The ASP does not warrant the accuracy or completeness of any information contained in the e-Books, or its merchantability or fitness of use for a particular purpose.

The ASP will have no liability to any person for any loss or damage arising out of use of, or inability to use, the e-Books.

The ASP will make reasonable efforts to make the e-Books available on a 24-hour basis, excluding normal network administration and system down time, but if access is suspended or interrupted, liability will be limited to restoring access as soon as feasible.

The ASP will maintain all current ASPMP e-Books on its website for a minimum of three (3) years, at which time they will become public domain. E-Books will continue to be available at www.aspmonographs.org beyond that time if they are being regularly accessed. The ASPMP will also archive all electronic material as well as providing archival copies of the e-Books to the Smithsonian/NASA Astrophysics Data System (ADS) to help ensure long-term accessibility.

Privacy Policy

Your use of the e-Books indicates your acceptance of the ASP's privacy policy, as posted on the ASP web site and as described herein.

It is possible to access portions of the ASPMP web site without having to identify yourself. However, to place an order or access protected content on the ASPMP site, you will be asked to provide basic personal/institutional information. The information collected may include your name, e-mail address, shipping and billing address, or other demographic information essential to completing a transaction and communicating with you.

All personal information we collect is stored safely in our secure databases. From time to time we may use your information to contact you about your account or to tell you about new ASP or ASPCS products and services. We do not sell, rent, or share e-mail addresses. However, we may make your postal address available to reputable organizations whose products and services we think might be of interest to you. If you would like to have your name and address removed from our solicitation mailing lists, you can send an e-mail message to service@astrosociety.org.

Information collected during the course of your use of the e-Books and pertaining to such use may be used by the ASP, the ASPMP or the Institution for internal business and research purposes, including web site statistics. Such information will not be shared with third parties other than the ASP or the Institution except in the form of aggregate, anonymous statistics. Such information will not be disclosed in a form that reveals the identity of the user, except as required by law or as necessary to protect against violations of the Terms and Conditions of Use of Electronic Books as specified herein or in another license, if applicable.
